

The Research Centre of the School of Economics and Business cordially invites you to the workshop on Research Ethics

Presenter: Jennifer Tarr, London School of Economics and Political Science

Title: Ethics in Research with Human Subjects

Date: Wednesday, 15th May 2019

Time: 14:00 - 16:00 CEST

Venue: School of Economics and Business, University of Ljubljana, Kardeljeva pl. 17, Ljubljana, room P-119

Professor Jennifer Tarr will present the basics of ethics in research using human subjects: informed consent, anonymity and confidentiality, deception, covert research, the ethics of using incentives, and vulnerable participants. The presentation will also discuss publication ethics and data protection/GDPR, as well as research using secondary datasets, internet research, and social media data. Prof. Tarr will discuss several case studies in which there was ambiguity about the correct course of action, and will encourage discussion and questions relating to participants' own dilemmas concerning ethics in research.

Jennifer Tarr is a Lecturer in Research Methodology in the Department of Methodology at the London School of Economics. She holds a PhD in Sociology from Goldsmiths College, University of London. She was previously a lecturer in Sociology at Trinity College Dublin, and has also taught at Goldsmiths College and the University of Sussex and was a research fellow at the London College of Fashion. She is the Ethics Coordinator of the Department of Methodology, as well as a member of the Research Ethics Committee at LSE.

Participation is free of charge but prior registration is mandatory.

You can register at raziskave.ef.uni-lj.si/ResearchEthics by Monday, 13th May 2019.

The presentation will take place in English. Interpretation from English to Slovene will not be provided.

We look forward to seeing you!